MT. STERLING SHORT LINE.

Coming above the horizon we are able to see the rays from rising hope. Only a few more thousand, the books will be closed and the constructing of the Short Line will be with the contractors. The farmers having realized the necessity of this road are coming up like men, some of whom need only an explanation of benefits to give their stock subscriptions. We would have them sing out or write H. Clay McKee, W. T. Tyler, R. M. Trimble, W. R. Nunnelley, John R. Blount, C. C. Chenault, W. S. Lloyd, C. H. Petry or any business man within the city and give their subscriptions. This week subscriptions are needed worse than last because they are fewer and harder to get. Every farmer should examine into his duty to himself and family and subscribe because of the benefits the road will bring.

FOR DISTRICT DELEGATE.

The name of Finley E. Fogg has been frequently mentioned as a delegate from the Tenth Congressional district to the National Convention at St. Louis. We are not in a position to say that Mr. Fogg is a candidate for this place but we do know that there is a strong feeling among the Democrats of Morgan and adjoining counties who are greatly in favor of him being sent to represent the district in the St. Louis convention. Finley is a loyal, conservative Democrat, and one who wants harmony and success, and who has the courage and ability to make a delegate that the Democrats of this district would feel proud of. This is the kind of a Democrat we want to send. We want success this fall, and if we have success we must have conservative delegates. Without harmony and conservatism we cannot win.—Morgan County Messenger.

Mr. Fogg is a native of this county, and the Messenger has in no way overdrawn the manner of man and Democrat Mr. Fogg is. We do not know him to be a candidate for this responsible position, but if he is the Democracy of the district may be assured that he will studiously and courageously care for the interests of the party and that of the people. Without a hint from Mr. Fogg we take this method of making the suggestion of the Messenger a motion that will place his claims as a man and Democrat before the Tenth district, trusting that body assembled will by acclamation make him its representative at St. Louis. The future of the people is up to the young people of the party and it would be wise to select the best from the great number of good ones. Men in whom the people have confidence, who are informed as to Democratic principles, who are conservative, honorable, bold and determined. Such a man is Judge Finley E. Fogg and the district would do well to demand his services.

THE BEST.

Mt. Sterling is one of the best business points in the South, and can be made one of the most moral business points in the South if the good people will only work to this end. Only pure men, men who regard the law and their oath to enforce it are needed in position, and it is up to the people to elect them.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

Saturday is the day when three trustee are to be elected for the Mt. Sterling Public High School. The only candidates reported at this office are L. T. Chiles, Dr. R. Q. Drake and Owen Laughlin. We could not have better and we trust all the voters of Mt. Sterling will put themselves on record as endorsing their management of this school. They deserve it. We owe the endorsement and the people who patronize this institution will be satisfied with their management.

PITIABLE.

It is pitiable to see sons of our best men come to our city to get drunk. Who offers these drunks, the people? Can't we offer the country boys something better? It has been said and we have not heard it denied that these same boys, after they are drunken with liquor, are taken into gambling dens where they are relieved of their hard earnings. These iniquitous, unlawful dens can be broken up, and men are paid a salary whose duty it is to do this work. The people have elected them and they had better do as the people desire, for a reckoning day is not far away.

NOT ENOUGH.

The committee, that went to Louisville to place before the business men of that city the advantages to them of a competitive railroad, was encouraged but sufficient money was not raised to finish the stock subscriptions.

Go to the voting places in Mt. Sterling, Saturday, at any time from six o'clock in the morning until four in the afternoon and vote for L. T. Chiles, R. Q. Drake and Owen Laughlin. Everybody should vote on that day and for these candidates.

Mt. Sterling Public Graded High School has a fine body of men for her trustees. They take interest in the school, are competent and in them the people have the utmost confidence. Let every man entitled to vote aid in the re-election of L. T. Chiles, R. Q. Drake and Owen Laughlin.

Public Graded School Declamation Contest.

The Declamatory Contest at Masonic Temple on Friday evening was of unusual interest. In this contest a decision was rendered by impartial judges selecting the best declaimer to represent the Mt. Sterling Graded High School at the Blue Grass Tournament which meets at Nicholasville, May 26, 27. The mandolin club and vocalists renditions were highly entertaining but the real interest centered on the contest in which brave boys were anxious to measure talents and gifts. The first on the program was Laird Throop with Clyde Stephenson as usher; subject "The Owl Critic." In this effort Laird was real cute and showed marked ability and good training; he was the cause of much applause.

Second was Jacob Hedden with Richard Apperson as usher; subject "Selections from Declamatory Oration at Unveiling of Monument of James L. Young." Jacob is a good speaker with fine voice, easy before an audience and gave evidence of a favorite speaker should he continue in drill and application.

Third was Edmond Wells with William Enoch as usher; subject "Boston Kindling Carter Teacher." This was a difficult piece to render but Edmond was its master and the house went wild in cheering the dramatic speaker. In this he gave evidence of the most thorough training.

Fourth was Brent Nunnelley with Robert Turner as usher; subject "The Boy Orator of Zepata City." Brent was self composed, familiar with his subject, free from stage fright, perfect in gesture with fine voice and grace in movement. The cheering was evidence that the declaimer was hard to beat and at this point stood head.

Fifth was Bratton Sutton, usher: C. T. Coleman; subject "Death of the Gadiy." The subject of this declamation was at himself and entered the subject with that real sentimentiality that carries with it conviction and leads to victory. From the very first he caught the entwined attention of the audience and held it riveted until the close. It was a fine piece well handled.

Sixth was Lloyd Frazer with Thomas Vansant as usher; subject "Lasca." Lloyd had been before the people before and the immense crowd in whose favor he stands high was not disappointed in expecting much of him. Self possessed, graceful, good voice, fine articulation, earnest, he delivered his piece like a winner.

Seventh was Harry Stevenson with Hodge Morris as usher; subject "Red Head's Account of the Feud." Harry was another good speaker and so well did he follow the author that the close brought down the house with prolonged applause.

Rev. J. R. Hobbs, Mr. G. Winn and C. D. Grubbs, judges, were out for some time causing much nervousness on the part of the special friends of the declaimers. Mr. Hobbs complimented each speaker and the medal was given to Mr. Brent Nunnelley who will contend for the honors at Nicholasville.

Of the seven contestants six were trained by Miss Mary Pratt Hedden, and Lloyd Frazer by his mother, Miss Minnie Groves was the pianist.

Making a Reputation.

Joseph W. Folk, District Attorney of St. Louis, who has made a national reputation by his successful prosecution of dishonest office holders and bribe givers, is showing formidable strength in his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Up to date he has secured 202 delegates to the forthcoming convention, against 111 for Hawes, his leading antagonist. He is a native of Tennessee, whence he removed to St. Louis within the last six or seven years. He is not thirty-five years old, yet has established a reputation as a lawyer and citizen of commanding power co-extensive with the Union.

A HARD STRUGGLE.

Many a Mt. Sterling Citizen Finds the Struggle Hard.

With a back constantly aching, with distressing urinary disorders. Daily existence is but a struggle. No need to keep it up—Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you.

J. B. Lewis, of 426 Shelby St., editor of the Frankfort Roundabout, says: "For a year or more I suffered a great deal from a dull aching pain across my back. At times the aching was constant for a day or two. If I sat still but for a short time it became almost unbearable and if I stooped or lifted anything I felt sharp twinges in the small of my back. The secretions from the kidneys were most irregular as well as highly colored and the odor very offensive. I had my attention called to Doan's Kidney Pills through our papers and got a box. After using them a few days I commenced to see an improvement. I kept on with the treatment and the pains on my back entirely left me and the kidney secretions became normal. From the great amount of good I derive from the use of this medicine I have every reason to be convinced of its merit and have had the slightest hesitancy in giving it my hearty endorsement."

Plenty more proof like this from Mt. Sterling people. Call at the drug store of F. C. Duerson and ask what his customers report.

Crop Conditions.

According to the United States weekly summary of the crop conditions in the great agricultural belt of the country embraced in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, we have suffered greatly from weather conditions in the last week. It has been too cold for germination, and no seeding of any consequence has been attempted. Winter wheat looks well only in extreme Western Kansas. Only a small portion of spring wheat has been sown. Corn planting has been greatly retarded.

1904—The World's Fair Line—1904

SHE MUST HAVE BEEN A KENTUCKIAN.

"Where are you going, my pretty maid?"

"To the World's Fair at St. Louis, sir," she said.

"Over what line will you travel, my dear?" said he.

"Over the 'Henderson Route,' of course," said she.

"What road that road do you go?" he said.

"For Free Reclining Chair Cars, sir," she said.

"And where does the Palace of Travel?" said he.

"From Louisville through Evansville to St. Louis," said she.

"They are 'Good Service' carriages, sir," she said.

"I'm traveling another route," he said, and she said, "I'm only one—The Henderson."

"I need not a helping hand, sir," said he.

"From Louisville through Evansville to St. Louis," said she.

"I doubt not a helping hand you need," said he.

"But you can come my way, sir," she said.

"No, I'm for the 'Henderson' any day," she said.

"Is the choice of routes worth more than my love?" said he.

"No, but the crook of Routes is, dear sir," said she.

"How, then, can I wed you, fair maid?" he said.

"Get the 'Henderson' Route first," said she.

Children's School Lunches.

This is a most important subject, and should be given careful thought by those who have to prepare them daily, yet it seems that few mothers give this subject the consideration they should. Too many depend upon preparing whatever happens to be on hand, or left over, and often the child's health is ruined by the school lunch. Things that taste good warm at the table are not always appetizing when eaten cold, and are often indigestible when cold.

The pale sickly looking children are nearly always those whose lunch basket is filled with sweets, or sour pickles, or sour sandwiches. Some children have an appetite only for sweets, but the mother does them an injury in complying with their wishes, for I have noticed that the most delicate and troublesome children are those who feed almost entirely upon sweets.

Portions of broiled chicken, sandwiches of baked or broiled ham or steak, a boiled egg or two, light bread or light biscuits, will always be relished cold by the school children. Each child should have his or her own individual lunch basket; this may make the mother more trouble, but will save trouble between the children. Some sweet is always wanted, and if pies are liked, one should have a small pie tin, only large enough for one child, and then it can be put up uncult, without spilling the juice over everything. I find the sliced apple pie much liked, and if well made are much healthier than custards or cakes. These small pies could be made while the fire is in the stove for breakfast and then would be fresh each day.

One should study variety; if the same thing is put up each day the children soon lose their appetite, and do not care to even look into the lunch basket. Where it can be had, ripe fruit of some kind should be put up for the morning and afternoon recesses. The smaller children invariably turn to the lunch basket when dismissed for the morning recess, and this is often their first thought at the evening recess, which comes so soon after the midday lunch.—Laura Jones in Inland Farmer.

The women of Louisville are organizing a "Travelers" Aid department for the Women's Christian Association, which will look after girls coming to the city and living in cheap boarding houses while in the city. It will co-operate with the women in St. Louis, who are seeking to save uninformed girls from answering advertisements and listening to agents who falsely promise almost any kind of work and pay at the fair. The work is to be pushed in a number of other directions. Women representatives are to be kept in the depots and "mashers" and newspaper advertisements are to be run down.

W. S. LLOYD'S CONFIDENCE IN HYOMEI.

Not a Penny Need be Paid Unless It Cures You of Cataract.

"Use Hyomei and be cured of cataract," says W. S. Lloyd. When a responsible business house like this comes out and advertises that Hyomei will not cost a penny unless it does all that is claimed for it, it shows what remarkable confidence they have in this scientific medical treatment.

A complete Hyomei outfit consists of a neat inhaler, that can be carried in the pocket or purse, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei, and costs but $1.

The inhaler lasts a lifetime and when extra bottles of Hyomei are needed, they can be obtained for 50c.

This treatment does away with all disagreeable and dangerous stomach dosing. Breathed through the Hyomei inhaler for a few minutes four times a day, it impregnates every particle of air taken in to the air passages and lungs with germ-killing and health-giving balsams. In this way it cures the most chronic and deep-seated cataractal diseases of the air passages and respiratory organs.

The user is the sole judge whether Hyomei is to be paid for or not. If it does not help, W. S. Lloyd will cheerfully return the money and it will not cost a penny.

Some Recipes for Economical Cakes.

The poor housekeeper, whose husband feels himself very much injured if he does not have cake at least once a week, if not oftener, had a hard time last winter, when eggs were so scarce and high, so I will give a few recipes for cakes which do not require so many eggs, and which I have tested often, and know to be good. The following makes an excellent layer cake:

One cup of butter, two of sugar, three cups of flour, four eggs and two teaspoonsful of baking powder.

Beat the eggs separately, cream the butter and sugar, and stir into the beaten yolks. Add the sweet milk, then the flour and whites of the eggs, and lastly the baking powder. In making baking powder cakes it is always best to put the baking powder in last; it makes the cake so much lighter. Bake in well-buttered cake plates in a hot stove. For this cake, any filling can be used that is desired, but I will give the recipes for three very popular fillings:

Caramel filling.—One pound of brown sugar, one cup of sweet milk, one lump of butter the size of a walnut, one teaspoonful of vanilla. Put the butter, sugar and milk on the stove, and let them come to a boil steadily, else the milk is apt to curdle. Then boil, stirring constantly until it turns red and begins to thicken. Remove from the stove and beat till it cools; then add the vanilla and spread between the cakes. There are a good many recipes for chocolate filling, but this is the best I have ever tried: Two squares of chocolate, one pound of sugar, one lump of butter the size of an egg, and one cup of milk. Boil steadily for about fifteen minutes, till it begins to get thick; then take from the fire, add one teaspoonful of vanilla and beat till cool. Great care must be taken not to cool this too much, as it will become as hard as a rock when cold, if such is the case. Every housekeeper who has ever tried this recipe for lemon filling is delighted with it, so I give it here: Two lemons, the yolks of two eggs, one cup of sugar, four tablespoonsful of hot water and one tablespoonful of butter. After paring the lemons, soak the parings in the hot water. Add this water to the juice and sugar, and heat over low fire till the sugar melts, after which pour over the yolks of the eggs beaten light, and cook in a double boiler until it thickens, stirring constantly. Let it cool before spreading between the cakes, which should also be cold, or quite cool. The whites of the eggs can be used to make the boiled icing with which the cake should be iced.

The above recipe for layer cake, with the lemon filling, and iced over, makes a very pretty and delicious cake, and does not require but six eggs for the whole thing, filling and all.

This old-fashioned pound cake is unequalled, but it is so expensive now, when butter and eggs are high, that it is often beyond the means of the housekeeper, so I will give a recipe for a cheap pound cake, which makes an excellent substitute:

Five eggs, four cups of sifted flour, three cups of sugar, one heaping cup of butter, one cup of boiling water, and two teaspoonsful of baking powder, one teaspoonful of lemon extract. Cream the butter and sugar, add the beaten yolks, then the hot water, then the flour and whites of the eggs beaten to a stiff froth, and lastly the baking powder. Bake in a moderately hot oven with a pan of hot water on the rack above to prevent the cake from browning too rapidly. An old and experienced housekeeper told me about using the hot water instead of sweet milk, and you have no idea how much lighter it makes the cake—but the water must be boiling.

Vanity cake.—Three eggs, two cups of sugar, one cup of milk, one-half cup of butter, three cups of flour, with two teaspoonsfuls of baking powder, or one teaspoonful of cream of tartar and one-half teaspoonful of soda. Beat until light, then divide the batter into two equal parts. To the spiced part add two teaspoonsfuls of ground ginger, two of ground cinnamon, two of spice and two of cloves. Flavor the unspiced part with lemon or vanilla. Bake each part in two layers and put together with icing. This makes a very pretty cake, and is a general favorite.

W. S. LLOYD'S UNUSUAL OFFER.

"It isn't often that I have faith enough in the medicine put up by other people to be willing to offer to refund the money if it does not cure," said W. S. Lloyd to an advocate who dropped into his store, "but I am glad to sell Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia on that basis."

The Dr. Howard Company, in order to get a quick introductory sale, authorizing me to sell their regular fifty cent bottles at half-price, 25 cents, and, although I have sold a lot of it, and have given every package, not one has been brought back as unsatisfactory.

"One great advantage of this specific," he continued, "is its small dose and convenient form. There are sixty doses in a vial that can be carried in the vest pocket or purse, and every one has more medicinal power than a big pill or tablet or a tumbler of mineral water."

I am still selling the specific at half-price, although I cannot tell how long I shall be able to do so, and anyone who is subject to constipation, sick headache, dizziness, liver trouble, indigestion, or a general played-out condition, ought to take advantage of this chance. You can tell your readers that if they are not satisfied with the specific they can come right back to my store and I will cheerfully refund their money."

Republican District Convention.

The Tenth Congressional District Convention of the Republican party met here Monday morning and after a brief welcome address by B. W. Hall and the introduction of Hon. Fred A. Vaughn, of Johnson county, district chairman, who was glad to be here and on an occasion of the most vital importance, Rev. H. G. Turner, of the M. E. Church, South, invoked God's blessing, and a temporary organization was effected by the election of T. S. Kirk, of Painteville, Chairman, and R. Lee Stewart, of Hindman, Secretary. After the appointment of committees the meeting adjourned and re-convened at 1:30. Resolutions endorsing the National administration, every movement without the slightest exception was passed, as was also the course of the Hon. John W. Yerkes. The temporary organization was made permanent. H. G. Garrett, of Clark, and J. M. Bowing, of Pike, were made district delegates to the Chicago convention. Hon. R. H. Winn, of this city, was chosen a member of the State Central Committee. Senator William Dingus, of Floyd, district elector, with Lucian Beckner, of Clark, his assistant. Delegates were instructed to vote for Hon. John W. Yerkes for a member of the Republican National Committee, and the counties in the State convention will cast their votes for ex-Gov. W. O. Bradley for delegate-at-large to the National Convention.

The county representation was good, there being present about fifty delegates.

WHAT THE TYPES DO TO US.
Sometimes Bad Handwriting Is Responsible for Part of It.

The fearful things that the types make innocent mortals say are calculated to make the recording angel weep, but usually they drive the victim of their depravity to something more strenuous and lurid in the shape of language, says the Catholic Telegraph.

Here are a few examples:

A popular and prominent man in England was once called upon to address an assemblage, which greeted him enthusiastically and with cheers. The newspaper which reported the meeting said innocently: "The vast congregation air with their snouts."

A. M. read as follows: "All these facts are really worth nothing."

The printer, however, inserted an "h" into the last word, and it was thus set up: "All thes facts are really worth nothing."

An enthusiastic editor wrote:

"The battle now opened."

But, the compositor spelled it with an "o," and his readers said they had suspected it right along.

A New York editor once wrote an obituary on a "man of some prominence, and among other things he said: "He began life as a legal practitioner, but was diverted from it by love of letters."

An instance of faithful effort to "follow copy" occurred in a New York newspaper office. The reporter, who wrote a very bad vertical hand, put it down that zig-zag flash of lightning played among the clouds, and in the proof it came out that "319,309 faaers" played among the clouds.

Most readers will recall similar examples. There the ease of the learned reporter who wrote: "The bride looked au fait." It appeared "all feet."

OUR BROTHER.

O death where is thy sting?
O grave where is thy victory?
Life, a passing era, denies to death its sting, and to the grave its victory—God's will be done.

A gentle soul has left behind the cares of earth, and gone to a home in keeping with his life's building hopes. The departed was as pure as a sister's devotion and as gentle as a mother's love. His name was an index to truth, his word a pledge, and his purpose honest. He came of a race of people honest by breeding, just by practice, and with hearts full of sympathy for their erring associates. Such were his home environments in young life. Nursed in a cradle of purity, and reared with the hope ever present in his bosom—"Nearer My God To Thee."

Association for forty years with him and family brought the writer in close contact with them. He knew them, as only the grateful can know the warmth of the fire side of God's people. He has known their pleasures and their sorrows. He has more than once seen at the threshold of their home the friendly warning: "Ring the bell softly, there's arape on the door," which bring back to memory's fold the silent sleeper of the casket now resting in a new made grave in the city of the dead.

O death where is thy sting?
O grave where is thy victory?

Often on Sabbath mornings standing with him upon the hill tops of the home of his birth we have heard from the spires of your churches the peal of their bells calling upon God's people to come and commune together. As the echo from valleys would trade back the call each sound wave would carry with them a prayer from the bosom of the departed. He was the gentlest man I ever knew. His death is our loss—God's gain.

He was named for and after a grand old man, Enoch Smith, whose parents he emulated during life, illustrative of the esteem in which he was held in his adopted home of Jellico, Tenn. I was on a visit to him, and meeting a friend upon the street he made inquiry: "How in the world did you people send such a good man to live with us in these mountains?" Such was the character built by him in his new-made home, from the teachings and foundation laid in his infancy by that good old father and mother.

My friend and brother was born in Montgomery county, Kentucky, in the year 1855. He was reared upon the farm, was a faithful son, and an affectionate brother, and an earnest Christian. His first venture in life's career was to kneel at the altar of old Somerset, and pledge his life to the keeping of his God, and during it, he kept that pledge, and God looked down and cheered him onward in the pathway he pursued. In 1873 he attended college in Virginia and there completed his education. On his return to the home of his birth he pursued farming and so continued during his residence in Montgomery county. Intimately I knew him and his family for forty years. I never knew him to speak ill of any one nor to utter a cross word in his family. His kindness was such that each sister seemed to be loved better than the other. In 1882 he married Miss Emma C. Crouch and with her he shared the pleasures and sorrows of life. Often has he said to the writer, that with his troubles he could not have borne them had it not been for the cheer and comfort of his devoted wife.

The announcement of his death brought forth from this community regardless of race, color or condition, an universal chorus of sorrow. The funeral cortège that followed him to his last resting place marked the esteem in which he was held. He has gone, yet he has left with us the recollection of a neighbor, a friend and a brother that few who may follow can leave.

For thirty years I was closely associated with him in business. I never knew him to utter an oath. I never knew him to resort to a subterfuge, and I never knew him to avoid a duty. I knew our brother as few men knew him. For whom the Lord liveth, he dieth not.

God laid heavily his hand upon their lives, yet cemented them close to him. Within ten days death's ruthless hand swept from their home three children. Their fair daughter, Minnie, was called on February 17th, '90. Their eldest, Mattie Mitchell, on February 20th, '90, and their youngest, little Henrietta, on February 27th, '90. They rest in one bed with its green coverlet in their silent home in Machpelah Cemetery Father and mother forced from their loved ones resting in the city of the dead, sought comfort in the grace of the dead, sought comfort in the grace of God. New surroundings, and in their own companionship. Thus sped on and the sorrows of their young life were softened by the vicissitudes of the world, until 1893 when they removed to Jellico, Tenn., and there financial prosperity left its aid, and God coming to their rescue, brightened their home in the spring of 1900 by the birth of little Milton. Theauctains were then drawn back, the crepe was cast off, and sunshine gleamed its way over the threshold of their newly made home, and they were living life over again. Yet the Lord scourgeth those he loveth, and in May 3 years after, little Milton's birth, the sunshine receded from their home, and their only child was called from the home of its parents and winged its way to a home beyond the skies. His body rests with his sisters in Machpelah, his soul with them above. Yet the loss was more than the father could bear. The burden was too heavy, and he traveled from home to find relief. God pitied him and watched over his wanderings over the spacious plains of the far West, and on Monday morning, April 26th, 1904, called him up above to meet his little one hanging over the parapets of Heaven awaiting his coming. Thus ended the life of Enoch Smith Jameson in the 49th year of his age.

Gathered with relatives and friends around his grave to see the last of our departed brother, a sense of love went out to those who paid their last tribute to his memory. Especially did my heart lean down to the pillow placed at the head of his grave by the wish of the members of the Christian Church of Jellico (his new-made home) and engraved with violet colored letters of immortality—"To Our Brother in Christ."

Well do I remember the day he gave up earthly hope, it was the 6th of May past. He was standing over the grave of his last child—little Milton. With pathetic bursts of sorrow his hopes were buried with his only child—from that day to the day of his death. He gave up all hope of happiness here and looked to a throne above for comfort.

If there be choice seats in Heaven one has been set apart awaiting his coming. Whilst he has left earth he has gone to another home to meet father and mother, brother and sisters, and cradled within his embrace little Mattie, Minnie, Henrietta and Milton, and around the throne on high join with them in one anthem—"Nearer My God to Thee."

Were I as good as I knew Smith Jameson to be I would welcome a call this moment.

An humble miner, when he heard of the death of our brother, as a silent tear stole down his cheek, said: "His home was one to which I could go, and be at home. He loved all of us."

MARBLE AND GRANITE MONUMENTS.

100 Per Cent.
Quality.

There is something more in the business of purchasing a monument than "how cheap" the job can be obtained. You would not think of matching a piece of calico against a piece of silk; nor a piece of all-wool against shoddy stuff.

We pick the very best grades of granite and marble; select manufacturers of integrity and ability to build our work. When our customers inspect their work in the cemetery they cannot help but be pleased, for it is 100 PER CENT. QUALITY. We have spent forty-nine years in this one business. "Good Work All Through" is our motto. Let us figure with you for good work, honest work, work that will stand forever. Does that appeal to you?

DEATHS

HENRY—On April 26 Mr. George Henry, aged 81 years, died of paralysis at his home near North Middlefield. He is the father of Messedames J. M. Logan and A. D. Henry, of Clark county.

CASSIDY—The death of Mrs. T. D. Cassidy, of Lexington, occurred on Tuesday, April 26, 1904. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. I. J. Spencer at the residence on Wednesday afternoon and the burial was in that city. She was a member of the Christian Church and was a good woman, loving and kind. To her husband and two children we extend our sympathy. Messedame B. F. Thomson, B. W. Trimble, M. T. McElroy and J. W. Burton attended the funeral.

STOKLEY—Wm. T. Stokley died at his home on Spencer on Thursday night about midnight April 28, 1904. The funeral was conducted at Spencer Church on Friday afternoon by Rev. J. R. Hobbs, and the burial was in the Coon's graveyard. His wife is the daughter of T. N. Perry. She and three children survive him. Hoping to be improved in health he went to California during the winter, but soon returned. He was a member of the Christian Church and was a worthy citizen. To his family we extend our sympathy.

JAMESON—The remains of E. S. Jameson, who died at Tucson, Arizona, arrived in this city on last Monday at 12:25. Rev. H. D. Clark conducted funeral services at 1:30 at the residence of Joel Fesler and the burial was in Macphail. The attendance was large. He was a lovable man, worthy of confidence and esteem. Beautiful floral offerings were sent by the Christian and Presbyterian Churches and Board of Education of Jeilie. The following from a distance attended the funeral in this city: R. B. Baird, cashier of Citizen's Bank; S. B. McComb and wife, Chas. Hughes, Mrs. E. Crouch, all of Jeilie, Tenn.; E. K. Thomas and wife, Claude M. Thomas, Dr. Weaver and Miss Anna Weaver, of Bourbon; Strother D. Mitchell, of Allen, Kansas; Wm. and Mary Dunlap, of Woodford; Dr. Minnie Dunlap, of Lexington; Miss Halle Told, of Louisville; James E. Hughes, of Lexington; Sam Hughes and wife, of Bath. Traveling is Dangerous.

Constant motion jars the kidneys which are kept in place in the body by delicate attachments. This is the reason that travelers, trainmen, street car men, teamsters and all who drive very much, suffer from kidney disease in some form. Foley's Kidney Cure strengthens the kidneys and cures all forms of kidney and bladder disease. Geo. E. Hausan, locomotive engineer, Lima, O., writes, "Constant vibration of the engine caused me a great deal of trouble with my kidneys, and I got no relief until I used Foley's Kidney Cure."

Nerve Fag.

If You Waste Your Nerve Energy, After Awhile You Will Suffer For It.

You can waste nerve force by excess, over-work, worry, anxiety, etc.

You can weaken yourself by not eating proper food or securing sufficient rest to renew the energy you use up.

The proper treatment, in addition to good phosphatic food, such as whole meal bread, prepared cereals, etc., is Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine.

This is as truly a brain and nerve food as any food you could eat, and besides, furnishes strength and tone of its own, which goes to the weakened nerve system, and sets it right.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is a refreshing, revitalizing tonic food complete for the brain and nerves. It recommends well to those who are weak, infirm, or doctor them that they were unreliable, that it is today the standard medicine in many thousands of American homes.

The first bottle is guaranteed to help you, or druggists will refund your money.

The extract has done "wonderful" in the banking business, has caused me to lose weight, but I am much stronger.

It gives me pleasure to say that I have had very good results in the treatment of these afflictions. I am now well again, and my health is good, but I have almost forgotten that I in fact have almost forgotten that I possess Miles' Restorative Nervine.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is one of the most excellent vines for verandas, and in June the vine is covered with the dark, velvety purple flowers. The Clematis is a hardy, vigorous grower, delighting in rich soil and sunshines, but I have seen them blooming well on the north side of the house. Henry I. is one of the finest of the white-flowered sorts.

With the approach of spring, nearly every one is stirred with gardening impulses, but unfortunately this does not last long with shrubs and vines that require little care after they are set out will prove the most satisfactory.

The Wisteria is a most beautiful spring flowering vine, flowering in May and June. This is a very graceful and pretty climber for covering old, unsightly tree trunks, or for transforming small, unattractive outhouses into things of beauty.

Flowers are borne in long, drooping clusters, and are quite fragrant. They sometimes give a second crop of flowers in the fall.

The Cinnamon vine is quite pretty, leaves heart-shaped, and is a very rapid grower and quite hardy. The vine dies back to the ground at the approach of cold weather, but springs into life and beauty again in April. The flowers are quite fragrant, but are insignificant, being green and quite small.

The old, familiar Honey-suckle is well known to need any description, but it seems to be a true home vine, very few homes have not this. It makes an excellent screen, and if planted along an unattractive fence it will, within a few years, completely cover this, draping it with a mass of beautiful evergreen, and only during the severest of winter does it shed its leaves.

There is a long list of shrubs which, when carefully planted, add much to the attractiveness of the home. Most shrubs start into new growth so early in the spring that transplanting can be done most successfully in November.

Good Advice

Is to tell your neighbors to use Paracamph for cold in the head or chest. It relieves colds, catarrh and sore throat quicker than any other known remedy, because it opens the pores, induces perspiration and removes congestion. It drives away that "stopped up" feeling and draws out all fever and inflammation. Try it. It won't take a minute, and it will relieve you in less time. 424

The Senate on 26th passed the Military Academy Appropriation Bill. On a point of order made by Senator McCrory, the amendment making appropriations for the establishment of four great army camp sites was eliminated.

Exterior Decoration of the Home.

One can form a very good idea of the taste and intellect of the inmates of the home by the surroundings. The finest bit of architecture does not seem like home without shrubs, vines and shade trees. The graceful drapery of the vines gives an artistic touch to the home that is lacking in the massive, unadorned walls. Here in Kentucky there are so many of those old-fashioned homes, built with those massive stone pillars supporting the roof of the veranda, and these draped with that beautiful creeper, Amelanchier Veitchii, makes a truly artistic and beautiful home. This has bright green foliage, changing to red in the fall, and withal is a very dainty vine.

The Clematis Jackmanii is one of the most excellent vines for verandas, and in June the vine is covered with the dark, velvety purple flowers. The Clematis is a hardy, vigorous grower, delighting in rich soil and sunshines, but I have seen them blooming well on the north side of the house. 8 Cents

She was thin and weak and paid one dollar for a bottle of Scott's Emulsion, and by taking regular doses had gained twelve pounds in weight before the bottle was finished.

Eight cents a pound is cheap for such valuable material. Some pay more, some less, some get nothing for their money. You get your money's worth when you buy Scott's Emulsion.

Profit in High Grade Beef.

In a paper on the result of his exhaustive experiments in fattening steers for market, Prof. H. W. Mumford, of the Illinois Experiment Station, amply demonstrates that no feeder can afford to handle low-grade cattle. In his series of practical tests, Prof. Mumford demonstrated that:

More rapid and much larger gains may be secured on the better than on the more common grades.

The better the grade of cattle, the higher the percentages of dressed beef.

Low-grade cattle carry larger percentages of internal fat than the better bred ones, while there appears to be a more abundant and more evenly distributed layer of surface fat on the better bred steers.

Both the market and slaughter tests of the various grades as finished clearly indicate that to the packer and butcher condition is of first importance.

The greater the spread in the market between the various grades of fat steers, the more is the advantage in favor of the better grades.

A Picnic Party

Should always carry along a bottle of Paracamph. In case of a bruise or a sprain it relieves the pain instantly and cures quickly. Also the best remedy for sun burn and prevents mosquitoes and chiggers from biting you. 424

Free range is first in the writer's opinion as far as saving work and expense is concerned. We would not expect to run a poultry place and let all stock have free range. Early in the spring the choicest stock could be put out to run over the ground and the change be a great benefit. Later as hundreds of young chickens come, the older birds are yarded and the younger ones given the run of the place, but they can be yarded at any time. A breeder must study the best interest of the stock and make such changes as will prove a benefit to the fowls. Above all, we try to start the youngsters right, so as to have size and vigor.

To Aid Kentucky Mountain Schools.

In aid of the schools for the Kentucky mountaineers, the students of the Comstock School in New York will give a tea and hold a cake and candy sale in the parlors of the school, on April 29.

Many Kentuckians who are visiting in New York will lend their aid, and a large sum of money is expected to be realized.

Whisky is an excellent wash for torn combs or wattles. Afterward coat with vaseline. A raw egg beaten up, to which are added a dozen drops of whisky, should be given as a tonic, and to prevent cold from resulting from the wound.

A piece of gum camphor about the size of a grain of wheat is an excellent remedy for cases of gout. Repeat daily until the patient is relieved. Another good remedy is ten drops of camphor or turpentine to a pint of drinking water.

How to Make Children Lovely.

There is just one way—that is to surround them by day and night with an atmosphere of love. He strays and reproach may be mingled with the love, but love must be a constant element. "I found my little girl was growing unattractive and plain," said a mother to us the other day, "and reflecting on it said, I could only accuse myself as the cause thereof. So I changed my management, and improved every opportunity to praise and encourage her; to assure her of my earnest desire that she should grow up to lovely and harmonious womanhood. As a rose opens to sunshine, so the child's heart opened with the warmth of constant affection and caresses I showered upon her; her peevishness passed away; her face grew beautiful, and now one look from me will bring her to my side, obedient to my will, and happiest when she is nearest me." Is there not in this a lesson for all parents? Not all the plowing or weeding or cultivation of every sort we can give our growing crops will do for them what the steady shining of the sun can effect. Love is the sunshine of the family; without it not character, or morality, or virtue, can be brought to perfection.—Ex.

Uncle Ned's Life Insurance.

A representative of the Working-men's Industrial Aid Insurance Company, called upon an elderly colored man, with a view of getting him to insure his life.

"Good morning, Uncle Ned," said the solicitor.

"Does I carry what?" asked Uncle Ned, in great surprise.

"Do you carry any insurance? Is your life insured?" asked the solicitor, by way of explanation.

The solicitor asked: "In what company?"
